World Book Day – Thursday 5 March 2020

In a change from previous years, we will NOT be asking the children to dress up for World Book Day this year. Instead, we will be celebrating World Book Day in the only way possible, by listening to stories. I have asked my staff team to choose their favourite story or part of their favourite story to share with the children. The children will then be able to choose which story they would like to go and listen to. Each adult will briefly explain why the book is their favourite and share it with the children. We will host three of these sessions during the day so the children will be able to listen to three different grown-ups reading and talking their favourite children's books.

A plea

We are running short of old newspaper. We use newspaper for things like Papier-mâché and other art based activities. If you have any old, suitable newspaper that you wouldn't mind donating, we'd be very grateful. Please send any donations to your child's class teacher. Thank you

Winter Weather

In the unlikely event that we have to close school because of snow, I'd like to remind parents of the procedure for closing school. If we make the decision to close school because of snow we email parents and carers before 7am on the day of closure; I will always try and communicate the closure the day before if possible. We will also update the home page of our website (www.southfieldprimaryschool.org.uk) and post on our Facebook and Twitter feed all before 7am. Alongside this public notice, I will also post on our Class Dojo School Stories page. I'd be grateful if parents and carers could share this so we can spread the message as quickly as possible.

We will also let the local authority know; they will then update their own website. We will contact all local radio. If we make the decision to close, the school will be closed for the whole day even if the weather improves during the day.
